24. Can I please clarify that section 5 in the Grant Opportunity Guidelines, I assume where the word interstate is referenced, this means domestically (including intrastate)? Are new intrastate processing lines eligible?

The Forestry Recovery Development Fund Program has been developed to provide assistance to privately owned processing facilities impacted by the 2019-20 bushfires to develop new processing lines for their business. This provides an opportunity for industry to invest in diversification and innovation to produce value-added wood products, secure essential supply chains and support forestry industries right across Australia.

Under the assessment criteria, the applicant must show how the project will contribute to securing their capacity to continue to deliver existing products, or contribute to developing new products, that they intend to sell solely or mainly into interstate and/or internationally. This criteria does not prevent the applicant from selling a portion of their wood product to the intrastate market.

The Grant Opportunity Guidelines, including the assessment criteria outlined above, have been agreed by government.
