1.2 Role of the Community Grants Hub

This grant opportunity will be managed by the Community Grants Hub (the Hub) on behalf of the Department of Social Services, under a Whole of Australian Government initiative to streamline grant processes across agencies.

1.3 About the grant program

These guidelines contain information about a restricted non-competitive grant opportunity for the Career Readiness for Young Parents project. The project was one of those developed during Tranche 1 stage 2 of the Try, Test and Learn Fund. Information about this and other Try, Test and Learn Fund grant opportunities will be released on the GrantConnect website.

The Try, Test and Learn Fund was announced in the 2016-17 Federal Budget as an initial response to the Australian Priority Investment Approach to Welfare under Outcome 1.10 Working Age Payments. It will develop and fund new or innovative policy responses aimed at improving workforce participation or capacity to work for groups at risk of long-term welfare dependence.

Detailed information about the Try, Test and Learn Fund is publicly available in the Try, Test and Learn Fund Tranche 1 Handbook and the Co-development Supplementary Information document. These documents are available at the engage website.

The Try, Test and Learn Fund forms part of Outcome 1.10 Working Age Payments. It will be undertaken according to the Commonwealth Grants Rules and Guidelines 2017 (CGRGs)

This document sets out:

- the background and goals of the Try, Test and Learn Fund
- how the Try, Test and Learn Fund works, including information on the public consultation activities that have defined the project to be funded through this grant opportunity (ideas generation and co-development)
- the assessment criteria for the grant opportunity
- how grant applications will be evaluated
- responsibilities and expectations in relation to the opportunity.

You must read this document before completing an application.

1.4 Background to the grant opportunity

1.4.1 Overview

These guidelines relate to the Career Readiness for Young Parents project, which is one of the projects to be funded in the second stage of Tranche 1 of the Try, Test and Learn Fund. Funding for Try, Test and Learn Fund projects will be released in multiple tranches over several years.

Tranche 1 commenced in December 2016 with a public call for ideas. Promising ideas were co-designed with stakeholders and developed into refined project proposals in two batches; stage one and stage two. From these proposals the Minister for Social Services, in consultation with the Prime Minister, Treasurer and the Minister for Finance, selected a number of projects for funding including this project, which is to be funded through the restricted non-competitive opportunity outlined in these Grant Opportunity Guidelines.

The following sections provide more detail on Tranche 1 stage 2 and the consultation activities that defined the project being funded.

1.4.2 The Australian Priority Investment Approach to Welfare and the Try, Test and Learn Fund

The Australian Priority Investment Approach to Welfare was a recommendation of the 2015 review of Australia's welfare system, A New System for Better Employment and Social Outcomes, led by Patrick McClure. It was established by the Australian Department of Social Services in 2015 and is underpinned by annual actuarial valuations of welfare payment data. The valuations estimate the future lifetime cost of welfare payments to the Australian population and groups within it.

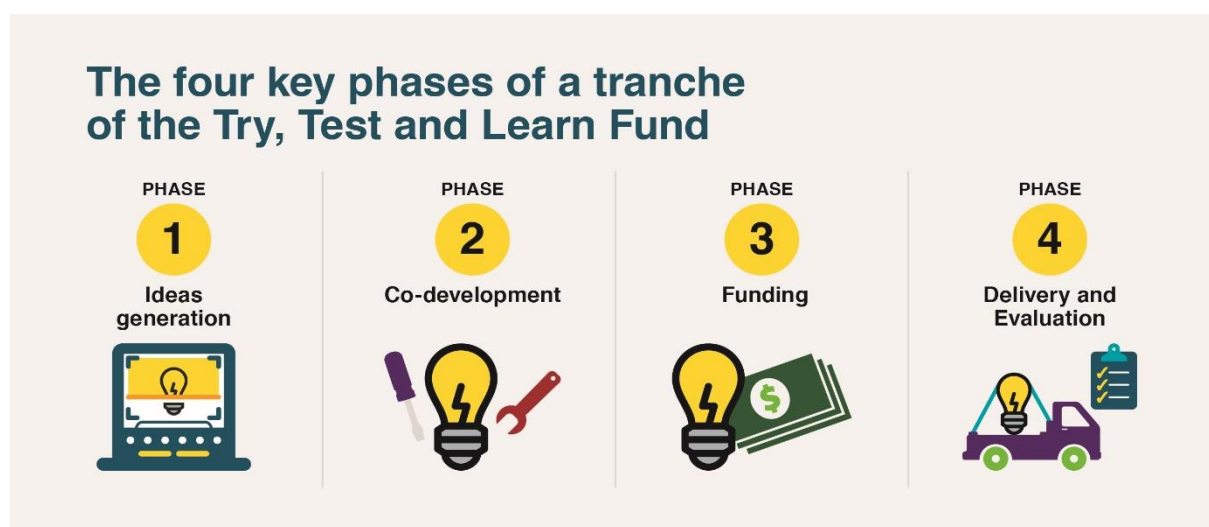

The objectives of the Priority Investment Approach are to improve lifetime wellbeing by:

- increasing the capacity of individuals to participate in social and economic life and to live independently of welfare
- reducing the risk of welfare dependence
- reducing long-term social security costs in the interests of maintaining a sustainable support system for vulnerable Australians.

The Try, Test and Learn Fund will support groups identified by the government, based on analysis of Priority Investment Approach valuations, as being at high risk of long-term welfare dependence and whose risk could be reduced with new or innovative policy responses.

Policy responses arising from the Fund are developed through an open and collaborative approach. This approach is focused on seeking new ideas from and collaborating with a diverse range of stakeholders including the social sector, business, academia and the general public in order to develop new ways of tackling complex social challenges.

The Try, Test and Learn Fund entails multiple stages of consultation (see diagram below). It seeks new ideas and then co-designs promising ideas with relevant stakeholders including potential service users. After co-design, selected projects are funded, delivered and evaluated.

The approach to ideas generation and co-development ensures that officials can work closely with potential grant recipients and beneficiaries on designing activities that will achieve the outcomes of the Try, Test and Learn Fund in alignment with public needs

Another central feature of the Try, Test and Learn Fund is the generation of new insights and empirical evidence into 'what works' to reduce long-term welfare dependence. Projects will be robustly evaluated to produce high quality policy evidence regarding whether the interventions are effective, for whom and under what circumstances. In this way, the Fund will allow Government to identify what approaches work and use this evidence to transform our funding in existing programs or make the case for new projects.

1.4.3 Tranche 1 priority groups

The priority groups for Tranche 1 of the Try, Test and Learn Fund were informed by the 2015 Priority Investment Approach Baseline Valuation Report and additional analysis of Priority Investment Approach data. These initial priority groups are:

- young people aged under 25 who started receiving Parenting Payment at age 18 or under and who are still receiving an income support payment
- young people aged under 25 who are in receipt of Carer Payment or at immediate risk of going onto the payment
- young people aged under 25 who have moved, or are at risk of moving, from study (post-secondary or tertiary and been in receipt or receiving a student payment) to an extended period on an unemployment payment.

The initial priority groups were chosen by the Minister of Social Services based on advice provided by the Department of Social Services and the Priority Investment Approach Inter-departmental Committee.

These priority groups are among a number identified in the Priority Investment Approach Baseline Valuation Report as groups of interest who have relatively high lifetime costs but for whom there is potential to reduce these likely costs and improve likely lifetime outcomes.

1.4.4 Tranche 1 stage 2 project development and selection

The process for the development and selection of Tranche 1 stage 2 projects entailed:

- Ideas generation – Ideas co-developed as part of Tranche 1 stage 2 were received during the generation phase for Tranche 1 conducted 9 December 2016 to 24 February 2017. As noted in the Try, Test and Learn Fund Tranche 1 Handbook ideas were broadly sought from community groups, government, academics, business, other groups and the general public through an open forum on the Department of Social Services consultation platform, DSS Engage. Information on eligible ideas co-developed in Tranche 1 stage 2 were published on DSS Engage.

- Ideas shortlisting – Ideas were assessed against the following criteria: effectiveness and impact of the idea; a new or innovative approach; and appropriateness for trial and evaluation. More detail on selection criteria used at the ideas generation stage is available in the Try, Test and Learn Fund Tranche 1 Handbook. Each submission was assessed and moderated before being scored. DSS undertook additional research on ideas. Following co-development of the initial shortlist, the pool of ideas was reviewed and a second shortlist was identified (stage 2).
- Co-development – Shortlisted ideas entered a co-development phase, in which stakeholders collaboratively developed and refined the shortlisted ideas from initial concepts into detailed project proposals. This co-development stage was an important step in seeking new and innovative solutions, and focused on fostering:
 - genuine collaboration with a meaningful impact on program design, including a focus on collaboration with representatives of the priority groups
 - more creative and innovative program design
 - new opportunities for collaboration between the Commonwealth, the community sector, business and other stakeholders, and the chance to learn from each other.

Co-development involved a series of workshops led by independent design facilitators. Key co-development stakeholders included proponents of the idea and potential services users (priority group members). Other stakeholders included members of the Try, Test and Learn Fund Expert Advisory Panel,¹ relevant Commonwealth government representatives and peak body representatives.

At the end of the co-development phase, design facilitators prepared proposals for each project with some input from co-development participants. More information on the co-development process is available in the Co-development Supplementary Information document.

- Project recommendation and selection (August – October 2017) – At the conclusion of the co-development phase, project proposals were considered to determine which projects should proceed to funding and delivery. Each project was considered independently against a range of parameters by the Department of Social Services in consultation with the Priority Investment Approach Inter-departmental Committee.² Considerations included how likely the project was to achieve intended outcomes, any major risks or challenges in delivering the project and whether the project had a viable approach for delivery and evaluation. Following these considerations, recommendations were put forward to the Minister for Social Services

² Members include the Departments of the Prime Minister and Cabinet, Employment, Education and Training, Finance, Health, Human Services, and Social Services; the Treasury; the Australian Bureau of Statistics; and the Australian Government Actuary.

who made final project selections in consultation with the Prime Minister, the Minister for Finance and the Treasurer.

1.4.5 Tranche 1 stage 2 project funding (January 2018 onwards)

These Grant Opportunity Guidelines cover the Career Readiness for Young Parents project for which a restricted non-competitive grant process has been determined to be the appropriate funding approach.

Where a restricted non-competitive grant process has been selected, the original idea proponent is considered to be in a unique position to deliver the project, and has therefore been selected as a sole eligible applicant. In these cases, the idea proponent's idea has been co-developed into a specific project with the Department of Social Services and other stakeholders but retains features which make the idea proponent uniquely qualified as a potential delivery partner. Where idea proponents have not demonstrated specialised expertise or are not in a position to deliver projects, restricted competitive or open competitive grant processes will be pursued.

1.5 Grant opportunity objectives and outcomes

The Career Readiness for Young Parents project is targeted at young parents who claimed the Parenting Payment when they were aged 19 or under. These young parents receiving income support payments are at risk of long term welfare dependency, intermittent low hours of employment and persistent poverty.

The project will be accessible to all young parents aged under 25 who started receiving Parenting Payment at age 19 or under and who are still receiving an income support payment. The participants will primarily be identified through the support services they access in the designated locations and government mail outs, referrals from family and friends, marketing through local community centres and 'word of mouth' recruitment conducted by the delivery partner, jobactive and ParentsNext providers.

Project activities will focus on improving young parents' job readiness through:

- High-touch case management model focussing on non-vocational barriers to employment
- Peer support and activities to address non-vocational barriers
- Career advocacy by a personal adviser
- Work immersion or experience, where appropriate
- Skills development

Each participant will be assessed to identify their barriers, where they need to build skills and set goals. Each participant will, have peer support and networking opportunities to develop 'soft skills' and work skills. The project will, where required, provide access to childcare and transport to project activities. Participants, where appropriate to circumstance, receive a 'warm referral' to other services that they need such as jobactive and ParentsNext.

The project will assist 60 young parents in Rockingham and Mandurah in Western Australia, 30 parents per site. The project will run over 28 months.

The project will be evaluated against job readiness, career engagement, employment and wellbeing. The trajectories of participants and the outcomes they achieve will be compared to the trajectory of a 'control' cohort – a sample of similar Parenting Payment recipients in other areas with similar economic conditions.

Detailed evaluation plans, including refined outcomes and the metrics to be used to measure particular outcomes, will be developed as part of the negotiation of the grant agreement and activity work plan with the successful applicant. DSS also intends to engage an evaluation expert to support evaluation across the Try, Test and Learn Fund projects.

In the interim, our expectation is that career engagement would be measured through:

- Qualitative data with participants about their interest and enthusiasm for career development, the extent and level of detail of their career planning. This data will be collected through interviews with participants conducted by the project staff. A baseline interview will be conducted at the point of enrolment with follow up interviews over time to measure changes. Information will also be gathered on other changes to circumstances that may influence participants' career development and engagement.
- Qualitative data kept by project staff on their observations of the above. This data will be collected as part of the project staff's regular documentation for the project. A baseline impression will be recorded by staff at the point of enrolment of each participant, and then updated regularly over time as part of the project reporting and project recordkeeping processes.
- Quantitative data on the number of enrolments in training by participants, the type and duration of these courses, and the number of course completions. This is a strong quantitative measure of career engagement (because participants would actively take steps towards professional development) but we note that it will not be appropriate for all participants due to their circumstances and particularly their parenting responsibilities. This data will be collected through project staff discussions and interviews with participants and through Commonwealth social security administrative data. It may be possible for the provider to establish relationships with local training institutions and (with the consent of participants) make use of their data on enrolments and the like.
- Quantitative data on the number of participants who report that they are seeking employment and / or request assistance from the CRYP provider or referrals to jobactive to seek employment. This metric has the same caveat about appropriateness to circumstances as the training metric. This data will be collected through project staff discussions and interviews with participants and through Commonwealth social security and employment administrative data.

Our expectation is that employment would be measured through the following metrics (noting the caveat that not all participants will be able to seek employment in their circumstances):

- Quantitative data on the number of participants who report that they are seeking employment and / or request assistance from the CRYP provider or referrals to jobactive to seek employment. This metric is also used for the career engagement outcome. Data will be collected as described above.
- Quantitative data on the number of participants entering employment during the course of the trial. This data will be collected through project staff discussions and interviews with participants and through Commonwealth social security and employment administrative data. It may be possible for the provider to establish relationships with local employers and (with the consent of participants) seek information from them about employment numbers.
- Quantitative data on the type and duration of employment for participants over the course of the trial. This data will be collected through project staff discussions and interviews with participants and through Commonwealth social security and employment administrative data. It may be possible for the provider to establish relationships with local employers and (with the consent of participants) seek information from them about the type and duration of employment of participants.
- Quantitative data on the hours worked per week, and weeks worked per year, for participants over the course of the trial. This data will be collected per the metric above. This may be compared to natural control groups in (de-identified) social security or employment administrative data.

Note that employment will not be the outcome for all (nor even most) participants due to their parenting responsibilities; job readiness will be a more feasible outcome for these participants. We anticipate that job readiness would be measured through:

- Qualitative data with participants about their barriers to employment (particularly non-vocational barriers), how difficult it would be for them to secure employment, whether they are interested in training or employment, and how ready they feel for a future return to training or employment. This data will be collected through interviews with participants conducted by the project staff. A baseline interview will be conducted at the point of enrolment with follow up interviews over time to measure changes. Information will also be gathered on other changes to circumstances (separate to the project) that may influence participants' job readiness.
- Qualitative data kept by project staff on their observations of the above. This data will be collected as part of the project staff's regular documentation for the project. A baseline impression will be recorded by staff at the point of enrolment of each participant, and then updated regularly over time as part of the project reporting and project recordkeeping processes.

- Qualitative data from jobactive and ParentsNext providers (with participants' consent) on their observations of the above.
- Quantitative data from employment and social security administrative data on participants' interactions with jobactive and ParentsNext, as an indicator of preparedness to address vocational and non-vocational barriers to employment.

Finally, our expectation is that participants' wellbeing would be measured by the following metrics:

- Qualitative data with participants about their mental, social and physical wellbeing. This data will be collected through interviews with participants conducted by the project staff. A baseline interview will be conducted at the point of enrolment with follow up interviews over time to measure changes. Information will also be gathered on other changes to circumstances that may influence participants' wellbeing (separate to the project).
- Qualitative data kept by project staff on their observations of the above. This data will be collected as part of the project staff's regular documentation for the project. A baseline impression will be recorded by staff at the point of enrolment of each participant, and then updated regularly over time as part of the project reporting and project recordkeeping processes.
- Quantitative data on rate of attendance at project activities. This will be used as a measure of engagement and social wellbeing in particular, as social anxiety was identified as a key challenge in the co-development of the project/ This data will be collected as part of the project staff's regular documentation for the project.

2. Grant amount

The Australian Government has announced a total of $79.6 million to projects supported by the Fund over four years for the Try, Test and Learn Fund. Individual grant amounts will be guided by project design and budgeting conducted during the co-development process and captured in project proposals.

The approximate budget for the Career Readiness for Young Parents project is $1 million. The project will be trialled over 28 months in Rockingham and Mandurah in Western Australia.

3. Grant eligibility criteria

We cannot consider your application if it does not satisfy all the eligibility criteria.

3.1 Who is eligible to apply for a grant?

To be eligible you must be the listed organisation and have received an invitation to apply through GrantConnect.

3.1.1 Eligible applicant

To be eligible you must be the listed organisation:

Name of Organisation	Rationale for Invitation
Bridging the Gap	See rationale below

The Career Readiness for Young Parents project was co-developed from an idea submitted to the Try, Test and Learn Fund by the Bridging the Gap.

The co-development partners included Bridging the Gap, Australasian Housing Institute, Ruah Community Services the WA office of the Commonwealth Department of Social Services, the Commonwealth Department of Employment and young parents.

Bridging the Gap is uniquely placed to deliver the project. It has a long history of working with the community in the area and has offices in Kwinana and Mandurah. It delivers a range of relevant Commonwealth and state government programs in partnership with local community based organisations in the area including:

- Supporting families with young children
- Community – based working and training including Work for the Dole
- Coaching Young People for Success program to empower young people
- Employability Skills Training as part of the Commonwealth's Department of Employment Youth PaTH initiative to help young people gain skills for employment
- Certificate II training in Conservation and Land Management and in Business
- Career information and guidance
- Non-accredited training in performance management, mental health first aid, professional communication skills and building effective teams.

Finally, the Career Readiness for Young Parents project will operate as a project with constrained financial and time parameters. The most effective method of delivering a project of this nature is to utilise the skills and knowledge of existing providers. This approach will provide the best value for money for conducting the initial, limited trial stage of the project and to collect policy-making evidence under the auspices of the evaluation-driven policy intent of the Try, Test and Learn Fund. There is no guarantee of continued funding for the successful applicant once the trial is completed. If any decision was to be made in the future to consider expanding a similar project concept for a broader rollout, broader-based and competitive funding processes would be considered.

4. Eligible grant activities

4.1 What can the grant money be used for?

The grant can be used for the following grant activities:

- staff salaries and on-costs which can be directly attributed to the provision of the grant activity in the identified service area or areas as per the grant agreement

- payments to sub-contractors to perform eligible grant activities.
- Part of the grant can be used for evaluation of the funded project and/or to explore options for future sustainability and ongoing viability of the funded project.

4.2 What can the grant money not be used for?

The grant cannot be used for the following grant activities:

- purchase of land
- major capital expenditure³

³ See glossary.

- subsidy of general ongoing administration costs such as rent, electricity and phone not directly related to the project being delivered as part of the grant agreement
- costs to attend and travel to conferences
- overseas travel
- the covering of retrospective costs.

Please note the grant cannot be used for the costs incurred in the preparation of your grant application or related documentation.

5. The project development and grant selection processes

5.1 Project development

The Career Readiness for Young Parents project underwent the Tranche 1 project development process outlined in section 1.4. In brief, this project entailed public ideas generation; shortlisting; intensive co-development with a variety of stakeholders including service providers and priority group representatives; and project recommendation and selection. Co-development involved a design-led approach, which focused on the needs of service users. Stakeholders including service providers, government agencies and young parents contributed to the development of the project.

The project expands upon an original idea submitted by Bridging the Gap. The project was co-developed from this idea by a group of stakeholders, including the idea proponents and other selected participants, including end users. As such, they have detailed knowledge and understanding of the project, its potential participants and its objectives and therefore how best to implement it.

5.2 Grant selection process

If an eligible application is received, it will be considered through a restricted non-competitive grant process.

We will assess your application against the criteria set out below. Your application will be considered on its merits, based on:

- how well it meets the criteria
- whether it provides value for money.

When undertaking a selection process we will consider the proportionality of scale, nature, funding amount, complexity and risks involved in the funding round. We will consider proportionality to inform the choice of the application and selection process, the type of grant agreement to be used and the reporting and acquittal requirements.

6. The assessment criteria

You will need to address the following assessment criteria in your application. Other criteria, such as innovation, the likely effectiveness of the project and the feasibility of the trial and evaluation of the project have been considered in the idea and project selection stages and do not need to be addressed as part of this grant process.

We will judge your application based on each criterion. The amount of detail and supporting evidence you provide in your application should be relative to the project size, complexity and grant amount requested. The application form includes word limits.

The equally weighted assessment criteria are:

1. Demonstrate your organisation's experience, capability and capacity to manage and deliver services for the young parents target group in the trial locations.

Your response should:

- demonstrate your organisation's ability to effectively develop, implement, manage and monitor grant activities to achieve positive outcomes for the young parents target group in the trial location
- demonstrate your organisation's ability to establish effective links with relevant partners and stakeholders to achieve outcomes for the young parents target group.

2. Demonstrate your organisation's experience, capability and capacity to implement and deliver the project and achieve its objectives.

Your response should:

- outline the number of key staff that will manage and / or deliver your organisation's project and outline their relevant capabilities (experience, skills and qualifications)
- demonstrate your organisation's capacity and approach to support data collection and monitoring activities for project evaluation.

7. The grant application process

7.1 Overview of application process

You must read these grant guidelines, the application form, and the grant agreement terms and conditions before you submit an application.

You are responsible for ensuring that your application is complete and accurate. Giving false or misleading information will exclude your application from further consideration.

You must address all of the assessment criteria to be considered for a grant. Please complete each section of the application form and make sure that you provide the information we have requested.

Please keep a copy of your application and any supporting papers.

7.2 Application process timing

Submit your application by the closing time and date.

If an application is late or the Community Grants Hub is requested to approve a lodgement after the closing date, the Community Grants Hub may determine that there were exceptional circumstances beyond the applicant's control that meant they could not meet the deadline.

Examples of exceptional circumstances could include, but may not be limited to:

- Community Grants Hub infrastructure failures,
- natural disasters,
- power outages affecting the ability of the applicant to submit their application by the deadline, and
- death or disability of key personnel.

Information on the Community Grants Hub late application policy is available on the Community Grants Hub website.

The expected start date for the granting activities will be on execution of the Grant Agreement. The expected end date will be subject to individual grant agreement. You must spend the grant by the end date.

The policy delegate must not approve funding if they reasonably consider the program funding available across financial years will not accommodate the funding offer, and/or that the application does not represent value for money.

9. Notification of application outcomes

You will be advised of the outcomes of your application in writing. If you are successful, you will also be advised about any specific conditions attached to the grant.

If you are unsuccessful, we will notify you in writing.

10. Successful grant applications

10.1 The grant agreement

If you are successful, you must enter into a legally binding grant agreement with the Commonwealth represented by the Department of Social Services. A schedule may be used to outline the specific grant requirements. Any additional conditions attached to the grant will be identified in the grant offer or during the grant agreement negotiations.

You will be required to:

- deliver the project and meet the performance reporting and financial acquittal requirements outlined in your grant agreement.

The Department of Social Services will negotiate the grant agreement with the successful applicant.

Where a grantee fails to meet the obligations of the grant agreement, the Department of Social Services may seek to terminate the relevant agreement.

You should not make financial commitments until a grant agreement has been executed by the Commonwealth.

10.2 How the grant will be paid

The grant agreement will state the:

- maximum grant amount to be paid.

We will not exceed the maximum grant amount under any circumstances. If you incur extra eligible expenditure, you must pay it yourself.

Grant funding will be paid:

- according to agreed milestones and performance indicators defined in the Grant Agreement and Activity Work Plan.

We recognise that unexpected events may affect the progress of a grant activity. In these circumstances, you can request an activity variation, including:

- changing an activity's milestones
- extending the timeframe for completing an activity but within the time period of the Try, Test and Learn Fund program.

The program does not allow for:

- an increase to the agreed amount of grant funds.

If you want to propose changes to the grant agreement, you must put them in writing before the grant agreement end date. Contact your Grant Agreement Manager for further information. We will not consider changes after the grant agreement end date.

You should not assume that a variation request will be successful. We will consider your request based on factors such as:

- how it affects the project outcome
- consistency with the program policy objective and any relevant policies of the Department of Social Services
- changes to the timing of grant payments
- availability of program funds.

11. Announcement of grants

If successful, your grant will be listed on the GrantConnect 21 calendar days after the date of effect as required by Section 5.3 of the CGRGs.

12. Delivery of grant activities

12.1 Your responsibilities

If successful, you must carry out the grant activities in accordance with these guidelines and the grant agreement and activity work plan, which includes standard terms and conditions and any supplementary conditions. The grant agreement will outline specific grant requirements.

You must submit reports in line with the timeframes in the grant agreement. We will provide sample templates for these reports in the grant agreement. We will expect you to report on

- progress against agreed project milestones
- contributions of participants directly related to the project
- eligible expenditure of grant funds.

You will also be responsible for:

- ensuring that your application is accurate and complete
- ensuring that the terms and conditions of the grant agreement are met and that the activity is managed in an efficient and effective manner
- meeting milestones and other timeframes specified in the grant agreement

- complying with record keeping, reporting and acquittal requirements in accordance with the grant agreement
- participating in grant program evaluation as necessary for the period specified in the grant agreement
- ensuring that the grant activity outputs and outcomes are in accordance with the grant agreement.

12.2 The Department's responsibilities

The Department of Social Services will:

- meet the terms and conditions set out in the grant agreement
- provide timely administration of the grant
- evaluate the grantee's performance.

We will monitor the progress of your project by assessing reports you submit and other agreed performance data and may conduct site visits to confirm details of your reports if necessary. Occasionally we may need to re-examine claims, seek further information or request an independent audit of claims and payments.

12.3 Grant payments and GST

Payments will be made as set out in the grant agreement.

Before any payments are made, you must provide:

- a tax invoice for the amount of the payment (the Australian Government's default invoice process is Recipient Created Tax Invoices)
- evidence that you have achieved the associated milestone
- any other conditions of payment (e.g. evidence of purchase of equipment, satisfactory progress report, approvals, and any other documentation).

If you receive a grant, you should consider speaking to a tax advisor about the effect of receiving a grant before you enter into a grant agreement. You can also visit the Australian Taxation Office website at the Australian Taxation Office for more information.

12.4 Reporting

The Career Readiness for Young Parents grant recipient must have systems in place to allow them to meet their data collection and reporting obligations outlined in their grant agreement.

Performance information (e.g. client characteristics and service delivery information) will be required to be collected by the service provider at the client level and entered directly into the department's reporting solution, the Data Exchange.

Information must be provided in accordance with the Data Exchange Protocols available on the DSS website.

12.5 Evaluation

The Department of Social Services will evaluate the Try, Test and Learn Fund and each project funded by it to measure how well the outcomes and objectives have been achieved. Your grant agreement requires you to provide information to help with this evaluation.

12.6 Acknowledgement

All materials related to grants under the program must acknowledge the Commonwealth as follows:

'Try, Test and Learn Fund – an Australian Government initiative.'

13. Probity

The Australian Government will make sure that the program process is fair; according to the published guidelines; incorporates appropriate safeguards against fraud, unlawful activities and other inappropriate conduct; and is consistent with the CGRGs.

Note: These guidelines may be changed from time-to-time by Department of Social Services. When this happens the revised guidelines will be published on GrantConnect.
